VERTICALLY INTEGRATED SUPPLY CHAIN

WHAT IS IT?

By owning vertically-integrated world-class factories and developing expertise in every step in the process, we uncover efficiencies and resource savings most can not see. It allows us to ensure we meet our high standards for working conditions and product quality.

No other competitor controls their process from start to finish.

VERTICALLY INTEGRATED SUPPLY CHAIN

We control almost every step in our process from raw materials to finished garments!

IT STARTS WITH CONTROL

YARN SPINNING

TEXTILES & SEWING

DISTRIBUTION

Gildan is one of the largest buyers of sustainably grown and ethically harvested US cotton.

Gildan owns and operates 7 yarn-spinning facilities in the US. Proudly employing 1,400 Americans. We're the largest US producers of yarn, manufacturing enough yarn to circle the globe 600x a day.

Gildan's sewing operations employ the largest percentage of our people. Our fabrics are knit in our textile facilities located in Haiti, Dominican Republic, Mexico, Nicaragua, Bangladesh, Honduras, USA.

We have a global network of distribution centres, which are strategically located around the world to service our wide geographic customer base, located in over 55 countries all over the world.

Here's a video detailing our modern manufacturing process using state of the art equipment:
